
Bigbelchnews.

March 8, 2013 | issue 40

Can you believe it's been almost a month since the last big belch news came out? Well, it has, and to celebrate, we've made a new issue of big belch news! Wait a minute, that doesn't really make sense, now does it? Maybe I shouldn't have made this issue. Oh well, it's too late now. Enjoy.

=====

North Korea is going to bomb us. They think Obama is going to start a war against them. They're stupid for thinking that Obama goes around starting wars. That was Bush that did that. Obama is a pacifist if anything. And even if North Korea bombed the heck out of us, a few days later there's going to be a conspiracy theory that said Obama bombed his own country and it wasn't North Korea after all because Obama wants to destroy our country. Kim needs help. I think he's too stupid to lead that country, or any country if he thinks Obama is going to start a war against us. Why are all the presidents of North Korea named Kim anyway? Kim is a girl's name.

Kim Jong, Erica Jong, Mah Jong, It's all Greek to me. Or Korean.

=====

Popeless at the Vatican.

The Catholic church is popeless. Or should I say hopeless? Anyway, we don't have a pope. I think they should elect me to be the world's first Satanic pope. Instead of giving out blessings, I'd give out infernal damnations. Instead of a wafer, I'd give out French fries, that is, if that damn dumb doctor didn't decide I had high cholesterol. So what if I really did? I don't care if I died or not. And even if I didn't want to die, North Korea's going to bomb us anyway, and here I am spending my final days eating crappy wheat bread and avoiding foods that taste good. This for example is a head of lettuce. Or is it a Brussels sprout? You can't really tell, can you?

They all look the same. But I know it's a head of lettuce because I typed in "lettuce" in Google images and got it. They told me to get a head in life. Lettuce not forget that. Anyway, it's green, and anything that is green tastes disgusting. Especially those green lime flavored Lifesavers. They're so disgusting, I wonder why they even bothered to put them in there. They should just begin making rolls of nothing but red ones because that's the flavor everyone likes. See, the rule about food is: If it's fried and/or comes from an animal, it tastes good. And doctors think they're so smart, thinking that eating lettuce would save your life and cause you to be healthy. Anyone who actually eats these things would grab the nearest gun and shoot themselves. So let that be a lesson: lettuce is deadly.

Popeless at the Vatican (take 2)
The Catholic church is popeless. Or should I say hopeless? Anyway, we don't have a pope. I was going to talk about how the Catholic church is going to elect a pope but then I got to talking about lettuce. So, I'll try to start talking about the pope. Oh, wait, there isn't one. So I'll just talk about popes in general. They're the ones that wear the funny tall hats. They're the ones that ride around in the popemobile. They live at the Vatican and sit around eating wafers and drinking wine, even though they told me when I was in school not to drink alcoholic beverages. Or smoke. And eat lettuce. Those darn teachers just don't want kids to have fun, but it would be good because if they drank alcoholic beverages and smoked, then they would be too busy drinking and smoking to have sex. But it doesn't really matter when an unidentified spokesman for Pyongyang's Foreign Ministry said North Korea will exercise its right for "a preemptive nuclear attack to destroy the strongholds of the aggressors" because Washington is pushing to start a nuclear war against the North." Kim Jong Un is the leader of North Korea. Or should I say Kim Jong Unbelievably stupid for thinking Obama is going to start a war. I think they should all go eat lettuce.