

big belch news.

issue 63 october 1, 2013.

Hi. Welcome to big belch news. Also welcome to no government. That's right, it shut down. So everyone doesn't have a government. Which means there's no cops, which means we can pretty much do whatever we want. I'm gonna go do me some prostitutes. And when I'm done, I'm gonna steal the most expensive stuff from Nordstroms. Because I can. Hey, I might steal some HDTVs. Because I can. Everyone keeps saying how the government shutting down is bad, but I don't think it is. Time to go cop hunting. Or maybe I've just been playing Grand Theft Auto 5 too much. You'd wonder why there haven't been any riots. This is the perfect time for it since there's no cops around. They've all been furloughed since there's no government to pay them. So let's riot!

Note: the big belch news does not condone cop hunting, even though it would probably be legal since there's no government to pay their salaries.

Damn lawyers had to make us put in that last sentence. We added that last part, though.

Question of the month.

If aliens came to earth a long time ago, why didn't they stay?

Answer of the month.

Because our BO scared them away. Come back, aliens! We invented soap!

Fake fact of the issue:

The name Bo is short for Boogeyfloogybugilomanorfa. Now you know why they shortened it.

Mr. ASCII man is about to fall off the cliff! Help me!

We're on to page 2 already? Boy that didn't take long. Hey, it's october 1, time for a calendar. So here. Cut that out!

So I got an ATARI 7800. It has a controller that makes your hand hurt if you play it too long. It was made before ergonomics was invented, so nobody hurt back then. But now everything made back then hurts now because some idiot invented ergonomics. One of the games on there is a racing game called "Pole Position 2." And despite the name, none of the four tracks takes place in Poland. They could have made at least one take place in a Warsaw suburb, but no. The only poles I actually saw are the ones that hold up the signs I keep crashing into.

tyhjhhjhjgggggjnfrhjksdgsdgsd now that I have a dog, I found new ways they can be annoying. So I've decided to make a new column called "How dogs are annoying."

"How Dogs Are Annoying."

Dogs love food. Unfortunately, they love your food. How unappetizing is it to look in your food to find a dog nose near it, just waiting for you to feed it? Dogs spend all their time being hungry. Even when they're sleeping, they're dreaming of eating dog food. Which makes you wonder why there aren't any obese dogs. Must be because their owners take them for long walks to wear them out so they'll be so tired they'll stop thinking about food. But no, they won't. Even when they're lying there, they're thinking "when is my master going to FEED me?!" This isn't just my opinion. This is proven fact. A bunch of scientists hooked up a machine that can read dogs' thoughts. The computer kept spitting out paper that said FOOD. FOOD. FOOD. FOOD. FOOD. FOOD. FOOD. FOOD.
